

Note on the next page:

This is a recent auction of Bidzirk's and indicative of the poor description and value of auction listing that Bidzirk provides:

The iPod is DIRTY!!!! It shows FINGERPRINTS on the screen. This couldn't be wiped down before the photo? The sticker "gummy" could have been EASILY REMOVED!

iPod headphones are ONE DOLLAR at Dollar Tree as are silicone cases. Just a $2 investment would have raised the ending price by $25-35 dollars.

The iPod is listed with this description:

"Sound and Vision"

This is pathetic - it's a Video iPod - not a vision iPod - you lost a very key descriptor word by not putting iPod Video in the title or description.

With the plethora of iPod docks and stores that sell iPod stuff - you guys couldn't test it?

Your shipping is so high you lost bids.

- Can you send additional photos?
We would be happy to supplement any listing information with any other details you request. Contact us with the specific information you are requesting and we will provide it promptly.
- What does "Sold As Is" mean?
We can not test every single function of an item to make sure it works 100%. Items are inspected for obvious damage and defects, and electrical/electronic goods are powered on to make sure they are functional. Beyond that, the buyer assumes the risk for any functional problems, and these items cannot be returned.
- Do you combine shipping?
In some cases we can combine shipping for similar items of a certain size, purchased at the same time. Generally speaking, we do not combine shipping, as our inventory system does not support it.
- When do I receive notification of a sale?
eBay automatically notifies you by email that you won the auction. If you do not receive notification, check your email system's spam filters to make sure the messages are not being blocked.
- What is your refund policy?
We will issue a refund if you receive an item that is not as described in the listing. Items must be returned to BidZirk, and a refund will be processed by the Friday following receipt of the returned item.
- Do you post feedback?
We are happy to leave positive feedback when the transaction is complete and feedback from the buyer is posted. If you have any issues and are inclined to leave BidZirk a negative or neutral feedback, we ask that you contact us first to resolve the issue as we would appreciate the opportunity to fix the problem.
